FUNERAL OF CHARLES H. HON.

The funeral of Charles H. Hon, who died at a Mobile infirmary Monday afternoon, was held Tuesday morning at 4:30. Rev. P. J. Carey officiating. The interment was at the Catholic cemetery at the beach. Mr. Hon was taken to Mobile last day evening suffering from an attack of appendicitis, and underwent an operation at an infirmary, following which he died. He was born in Pascagoula May 23, 1888, and is survived by his wife and three children. Also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hon, and a number of sisters and others, and other relatives in this city. He was ticket agent at the Louisville & Nashville Railroad station in this city, and was highly respected in this community.

On Wednesday evening October 3, at the auditorium of the church, the Baptists of Pascagoula and vicinity will be hosts to a free social, which all the Baptists in this community are especially invited and urged to attend. The social will be in the nature of a reunion, or "get-together" meeting, in anticipation of the change in the pastors of the church, as much to the regret of his large congregation. Rev. W. D. Boddell has accepted a call to the pastorate of Ocean Springs, where his family has already preceded him.

For the first three or four months of his residence in this city Rev. Boddell will be busy in the work of arranging for the nation wide campaign of Baptists to raise $75,000,000. He is a member of the committee having charge of the raising of Mississippi's quota of this fund. Rev. Stone of Moss Point will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday during Rev. Boddell's absence, the services to be at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

DIXIE THEATRE.
The Dixie Theatre is being thoroughly overhauled and repainted and put in first-class condition, and will be ready for the winter season about the 15th of the month. Manager Treloar has just installed a brand new Harmonica player-piano purchased from J. A. Abrams' Music Store of this city. He has also ordered new seats from the factory, but can not say just when they will arrive. He will continue to show the best of pictures, with such stars as Clara Kimball Young, Norma and Constance Talmage, Alice Brady, Olive Thomas, Elaine Hammerstein, Eugene O'Brien, Anita Joyce and many others; also high class specials, the names of which will be given later.

The Dixie also has coming Pearl White in her last serial picture, also has booked "Bound and Gagged," with Geo. B. Seitz and Marguerite Courtot, and numerous other great stars.

Director J. Searle Dawley, who was responsible for the direction of the famous "Snow White" picture, starring Marguerite Clark, has recently directed the same star in still another fairy tale, this time an adaptation of his own from one of the Hans Andersen fairy tales—classics for children and grown-ups alike. The excellent cast includes Richard Barthelmess, Daisy Bellmore, William Danforth, Augusta Anderson and others. "The Seven Swans," as the production has been named, will be shown at the Dixie Theatre on Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY "JAZZ KID"
ZaSu Pitts, as "The Jazz Kid" in "The Other Half," is a synopsized dynamo in this entirely human drama. They called Jennie Jones "The Jazz Kid" because she couldn't make her feet behave, and how that slim wisp of a girl could step! She jazzed with her feet—she jazzed with her hands—she jazzed with her larynx!

"Sweet Cookie Mine!"
"Sweet Cookie Mine!"
"Gee, but I'm crazy!"
"About my Sweetie!"
"Sweet Cookie Mine!"

The "Jazz Kid" is a refreshing and exhilarating type of the "poor winking girl" who didn't see any sense in moping or crying against her hard lot as she toiled in the hot laundry with the mercury trying to bust out of the top of the ube.

The "Kid" was addicted to hyperbole.
"My Sweetie got the croicks—do you know what I mean—for killin' two thousand Goinmans who attacked him—single-handed!" she confided to the girls in the laundry.

When her "Sweetie" returned home, the "Jazz Kid" swallowed her gum in her excitement.
Then when "Sweetie" was nearly killed in an accident, the "Kid" tried to cheer him up with her jazzy little tune. "Sweet Cookie Mine!"—she started to warble, then collapsed on the floor of the hospital.

The "Jazz Kid" is a character that goes straight to the heart of every American, for she's whole-souled, sincere and a spunky little optimist.

At the Dixie theatre Saturday night—Big double program, Viola Dana in "Satan, Jr.," and Bert Lytell in "Blind Man's Eyes."

PRESIDENT SERIOUSLY ILL

Washington Oct. 2.—President Wilson is "a very sick man" and "his condition is less favorable," it was said by Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, in a statement issued at 10 o'clock Thursday night from the White House.

The following bulletin was issued by Dr. Grayson:
"The president is a very sick man. His condition is less favorable today and he has remained in bed throughout the day."

"After consultation with Dr. F. X. Dercum of Philadelphia, Doctors Sterling Ruffin and E. R. Stitt of Washington, who all agreed as to his condition, it was determined that absolute rest is essential for some time."

Dr. Dercum returned to Philadelphia Secretary Tumulty announced. After the consultation, it developed that the physicians called in by Dr. Grayson had agreed entirely with his diagnosis of the president's ailment and approved the course of treatment decided upon by him.

The name of Dr. Dennis, director of the naval dispensary in Washington, did not appear in the bulletin Dr. Grayson gave out, but he was said to have been at the White House during the two-hour consultation.

There was much speculation in the capital as to the president's real condition, and concern was generally expressed.

When the consulting physicians left the White House shortly after half past six o'clock, Dr. Grayson remained and at 10 o'clock he went to the executive office and gave out his bulletin through Secretary Tumulty.

Earlier in the day Dr. Grayson made known that the president's physical condition was fairly strong and that his blood pressure was good. The president's age—he is approaching his 63rd birthday—was explained, however, made close watching of his condition essential.

Former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, the president's son-in-law, called at the White House during the day, but it could not be learned whether he had been requested to come to Washington because of Mr. Wilson's illness or was in the city on a business trip.

The home of Mrs. J. I. Ford was the scene of a delightful social event on Saturday afternoon, when her daughter, Miss Ollie, was the evening hostess of the Breeze Club and a few guests. Flowers and ferns added their loveliness to the attractive rooms in which the four tables for the players were placed, and three interesting games of auction were participated in by the club members.
